PERSONAL STATEMENT

At the age of four I began playing soccer and loved every part of the game. I was always the player that strived to be the best possible athlete that you can be. I have always loved coaching the up and coming youth to have the same desire and love for their sport. All children need a coach that is a friend and a positive mentor of the game. I focus my energies as a coach to make sure the player builds a love for the sport and learns the basic skills that can make them a successful player.
