PERSONAL STATEMENT

I discovered soccer when moving to KY in middle school. It was a daunting task to begin playing with players who all seemed to have played forever. I fell in love with the sport then, not knowing it would become a job I love. I want all players who want to play to have access to a coach that wants what is best for them, and wants them to have fun so they love the game. If a player is willing to work hard, they will find success. I believe it is a coach's job to show the players the tools they need to be successful.
